For Immediate Release:

Project InTandem Debuts a Bold New Dance Production on International Women's Day Weekend

The Calgary based contemporary dance collective Project InTandem has created an exciting evening of dance debuting at The GRAND, March 5 - 7th at 8pm. Sylvie Moquin's work explores neuroplasticity and the rewiring of self; her choreography is visceral and gravity-defying. Meghann Michalsky's work focuses on primal movement aesthetics, exploring raw physicality in correlation to a spiritual rebirth. The show resides in one of Calgary's premier historical and cultural hubs, The GRAND. The all female cast embodies the bold, risk-taking and athletic physicality that Project InTandem is known for. A must-see event, this highly anticipated double-bill celebrates feminine prowess on International Women's Day weekend.

"As female dance artists who are boldly venturing to make waves in the prairie region, we view the Project InTandem platform as a vehicle to express our voices and enrich our community. We are passionate for contemporary dance to thrive in Calgary." - Meghann Michalsky & Sylvie Moquin

Following the success of their initial production in 2017, the award winning producers and choreographers of Project InTandem are co-producing their second evening of full-length work together. Moquin was the 2019 recipient of Calgary Arts Development's Individual Artist Program Grant. Michalsky, in 2019, was the first Dancer/Choreographer to receive the RBC Emerging Artist Award presented at the Mayor's Lunch for Arts Champions.
